9. Nation's first blue economy

Bluecon's major attractions were the Exhibits by esteemed organization such as Indian Register of Shipping, various ports which included Mumbai port trust, JNPT port trust, Kandla port etc. They displayed the regulatory framework of their port functions highlighting essential port operations using disciplinary resources, thus making sustainable use of it.

At the student level, I particularly gained the knowledge on the importance of working in the transportation wing of the industry and the necessity of completing the task at desired level. Time keeping, safe transport and cheap prices make water transportation, a reliable and vital source of business and goods exchange throughout the world. In the course of three days, a number of issues were addressed which paved a way to enrich the shipping market towards sustainable growth by giving due importance to global needs and importance of transporting commodities.

10. First Year B.Sc. Nautical Science batch no. 14 are doing STCW courses from 20th May to 4th June 2019.

Fire Prevention & Fire Fighting is a 2-day course, this course trains the student to minimize the risk of fire and maintain a state of readiness to respond to emergency situations involving fire, and in the methods of fighting and extinguishing fires on board.

This module deals with the necessary precautions to minimise the risk of fires aboard ship. It examines how fires are caused and the first means of extinguishing them.

FPPF is extremely important skill to obtain regarding the safety of seafarers and others who are present on board. Fires are damaging to property, cause injury or death.

Overall, participating in fire safety training does wonders to help prevent fires just from the workers being more aware of their surroundings and knowing what can ignite a fire. They can even each contribute by doing simple things such as: Keeping the workplace clean.

STCW introduced mandatory training for Ship Security Officer on 1st January 2008 under Reg VI, Code A-VI/5. Course aims to provide knowledge on how to enhance ship security in accordance to STCW A-VI/6 for seafarers with Designated Security Duties.

This course trains the student to maintain the conditions set out in a ship security plan and to recognize security risks and threats out at sea as per international regulations.

In the past terrorism at sea has been targeted at passenger ships, due to the high publicity and large potential demands on exchange for a large number of human lives.

Now with the increasing number of Piracy and armed robbery incidents happening in many parts of the world STCW amendment 2010 has made mandatory w.e.f. 1st January 2014 security training for all seafarers with designated security duties, so as to provide them with the knowledge and training to implement procedures to make their ship a more secure place.
